

MONEY!

WE WANT TO TALK TO YOU ABOUT IT

BBC Television is making a major new documentary series called 'MONEY'.

This series will explore peoples' attitudes towards their finances, painting a unique picture of how we feel about our money in the 21st century.

As part of our research we would like to hear from people who are keen to engage in this debate.

At this stage, we'd like to have an informal chat with you over the phone about your spending habits and relationship with money.

To find out more about this exciting new series, please get in touch in confidence.
